GOVERNMENT'S PROPOSED VOIR DIRE QUESTIONS

COMES NOW, the United States of America, by counsel, and submits herewith its proposed Voir Dire questions to the Court. The following questions are proposed:

1. The case involves allegations that the Defendants conspired to distribute methamphetamine. Is there anyone who believes that controlled substances like methamphetamine should be legalized or de-criminalized?
2. Does anyone believe that the Government should not investigate drug related crimes?

3. Is there anyone who believes that law enforcement should not use undercover agents or cooperating citizens or defendants to assist in the investigation of drug related offenses.
4. The law permits an undercover agent to represent facts that are not true in furtherance of his attempts to investigate illegal activity. Is there anyone who believes that it is improper for an undercover agent to misrepresent himself or facts during and in furtherance of his investigations?
5. At times you may hear inappropriate language contained in some of the evidence in the case. Is there anyone who is so offended by the use of inappropriate language that you could not be fair to either the defendants or the government in rendering your verdict in the case should you hear offensive language?

DATED: January 30, 2006, at Honolulu, Hawaii.
